Message from the President

Alan E. Weaver, CPPB

Dear Members,

I trust that everyone had a most wonderful and fruitful holiday and have their New Year's resolutions firmly in hand. We are the fortunate ones in that we have two new years every year – October 1st and January 1st. Although, 2005 has just begun, the executive committee has been continuing its work behind the scenes planning the events and happenings needed to produce the upcoming annual conference in Jacksonville, especially the educational program and trade show. FAPPO's current Vice President and Program Chair, Russ Wetherington, has arranged an educational program that will meet and exceed everyone's expectations, from beginning purchaser to the most seasoned. A copy of the tentative schedule and breakout sessions has been included in the newsletter. The theme for this year's conference is, "Going the Extra Mile," is not only a theme, but should be a way of life both professionally and personally. Also, Russ has arranged for some of the highly rated speakers from last year's conference to speak again this year.

I also want to extend my appreciation to everyone who was able to attend the Fall Workshop this past November 5. If you missed the workshop, the speakers were superb. The State of Florida purchasing staff provided considerable information regarding state contracts and on the future of procurement in Florida, and still had time to answer questions from attendees. Wayne Casper, Chairman of NPI's Award of Excellence in Procurement (AEP) Award, was on hand to give AEP Awards to many Florida entities.

I'm sure our workloads will place a number of demands and stress on all of us. Remember that your friends and colleagues in FAPPO are here, and are always willing to listen, help, and network on solutions and needs. Many of us have probably been through a learning curve on many situations that others may face. Be ready to help your neighbor and colleague when he or she calls on you in their hour of need. Many of your friends are still trying to recover from the hurricane season this past year.

Message from the President

Please attend your local NIGP, ISM, and NACM chapter meetings. Get to know as many of your colleagues as possible, especially those in your immediate area. Also, a new NIGP chapter has been chartered in north Florida, an area that has been void of NIGP representation. The chapter has elected its slate of officers for its inaugural year and a chartering ceremony will be held on March 17th.

In the ensuing weeks and months, FAPPO, will be undertaking an outreach program to contact entities throughout the state. It is important to remember that we are a Florida association and that we reach out to all public entities around the state. Our association will be enriched by the diversity and synergy that we all bring to the table. If you know an entity that is not represented in FAPPO or someone that needs information regarding the benefits of membership, please email their name and address to Bernadette Hitchins at bhitchins@ci.winter-park.fl.us or myself at aweaver@sjrwmd.com.

Best wishes for the New Year. See you this May in Jacksonville along the St. Johns River!

With professional and personal regards,

Alan E. Weaver

FAPPO President, 2004-05

Web site Update

The Career Development section of the FAPPO web site has become very popular for advertising Purchasing Professional vacancies. Only the individual who posted the position is authorized to remove the posting from the Site. In an effort to provide the membership with up-to-date job opportunities, postings will expire and will be automatically removed 30 days from the date of posting. You may reenter the posting if not filled within that time frame.

If you need help setting up a User Code and/or Password for this reason or to access FAPPO's Web site, please contact Rhonda, not the membership folks. Also, if you have any additional suggestions or site recommendations, please do not hesitate to contact Rhonda Ledford, C.P.M., CPPO, Web site Liaison.
